Be- side Lake Er-ie's wa-ter blue stands dear old Har-bor
High, Her friend-li-ness her spir-it true, her fame will ne-ver die. Har-bor dear Har-bor High, Thy name we love.
Send forth thy guid-ing light re-flect-ed from a- bove.
Pur-ple and gold shall be col-ors of roy-al-ty.
We pledge our roy-al-ty, Har-bor to thee.

100 YEARS OF Class

Our past often influences our future, and Harbor High School is no different. Being the centennial year for the school, the history of Harbor also affected the year's events. The return of class tournaments brought back a tradition that had been absent from Harbor for three years. Milestones were reached by the concert band which achieved a one rating at State Band Competition and by two track team members who reached State Competition. The football team was successful as was the spring musical. As you turn through these pages you will become aware of what truly has made this A Century of Class.

Centennial Celebration

The 100th graduating class of Harbor High was celebrated in many ways during the school year. Aside from her secretarial duties, Mrs. Eleanor Andrews worked all school year compiling the "Celebration 100th Anniversary" book. A Centennial open house was planned by Mrs. Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maenpa. This open house gave the alumni of Harbor a chance to congregate in their old school for a special time. Mrs. Andrews also sent out letters to former principals and Ohio's governmental figures informing them of the centennial class. The outcome was five former principals participated in the passing out of diplomas. The junior class sold commemorative t-shirts to raise money for prom. Finally the year book dedicated its theme to the centennial class.

EXPERIENC- ING Class

Everyday events are what shape our lives. Whether they be here at Harbor, national, or international, these events form our thoughts, ideas, and affect our opinions. Highlights such as the return of class tournaments, which had been a tradition from years before, and current events like the Indians' new field and the solar eclipse become major occurrences in the lives of the Mariners. Special occasions like homecoming, the awards ceremony, prom, and graduation are turned into memories which will stay with students forever. All of these experiences help to round off the century of class.

Strangers in the Night

Even though the theme was "Strangers in the Night", there were not many strangers among those who attended Harbor's 1993 Homecoming Dance. After spending that morning hard at work, the cafeteria was beautifully decorated with masks, balloons, and a lighted tree in black, red, and silver by this year's senior women. Close friends and couples all mixed together for a very beautiful and unforgettable evening. Even for those who went stag, there were plenty of candidates to choose from. Everyone was eager to hit the dance floor, and the music drifted out over the crowd nonstop.

When the crowd finally parted for the Homecoming Court and the crowning of Homecoming Queen

Stacy Theis, the masks came down - but not those on the wall. These masks were excitement, pride, and tears of happiness on the people's faces. Theis said, "I was so excited to be on court and to be chosen as queen. All this made the dance and the game an experience I will never forget."

Even though the night flew, the memories will be crystal clear down the road. As Tina Saari recalls, "In spite of the cold, rainy weather outside, inside was wild and crazy. The night came and went fast, but the fun memories will last forever." And if by chance people came as strangers, chances are they left as friends or maybe even in love.

Enjoying Their Stay

Harbor was proud to host three exchange students during the 1993-94 school year. They were Susanna Gabriel from St. Veit, Austria, Frank Luc from Bardejov, Slovakia, and Michael Thielemann from Strausberg, Germany.

In Austria Susanna lives at home with her mother, father, and two sisters. Here Susanna spent the year living with her host parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Isco. Although she feels schools here are easier, she enjoyed her computer and psychology classes. This year Susanna, the only AFS student enjoyed playing volleyball and tennis, snowboarding with Harbor's Ski Club, participating in Model UN, and visiting Washington D.C., Disney World, and New York City.

Mike lives with his mother and father in Germany and has no siblings.

In Ashtabula he lives with Melanie Korovich's family. Mike enjoys bowling, ice skating, going to the movies, and playing football for the Mariners. He is a member of AFS, German Club, and the Industrial Arts Club. During his stay here, Mike also had the pleasure of getting his driver's license.

In Bardejov Frank lives with his parents and two older sisters. When he returns home this summer he will be attending his sister's wedding. His host parents this year were Rudolph and Mary Jones. This year Frank was in AFS and ran in track. His favorite classes were computer and physics. Frank has made many new friends, and someday wants to become an English interpreter.

Return of Tradition

The 1994 school year was marked by the return of class tournaments to Harbor High School. The tournaments, which were cancelled following an incident in 1991, were reinstated in result of the efforts of students, faculty, and the new administration. Behavior was closely monitored and everyone put a lot of energy into making the tournaments a success.

The tournaments lasted three days and were held during the last period of the school day. The first day contained basketball games between the freshman and junior boys and between the sophomore and senior girls. The following day contained games between the sophomore and senior boys and the freshman and junior girls. On the final day, games between the winning teams were played in which the junior boys and sophomore girls prevailed and awards were distributed.

Themes this year included: freshman, "The Smurfs", sophomores, "The Sixties", juniors, "Back to Bedrock", and seniors, "Down on the Farm".

Awards were bestowed to freshmen for best attendance and sportsmanship, sophomores for best cheering, juniors for best spirit, and the seniors won for best decorations.

And the Winners Are...

During every school year there are many new fads and fashions that come and go, and this year was no exception. Many trends contributed to the fond memories of this school year.

One of the popular clothing trends for this year was wearing basketball jerseys and wearing baseball caps; both males and females could be seen everywhere sporting their team or player. Another popular trend for guys was wearing ties with just about anything. No Fear and Stussy wear were found on just about everyone's backs, along with college sweat-shirts, Armed Forces apparel, and rubbys.

Sandals, whether they be leather, Nike, or even Birkenstocks, could be spotted all over Harbor come springtime. Many girls kept their hair straight and long with no bangs or twisted their hair into a bun or French twist. The males' hair stayed typically short although some sporty young men went to the extreme and shaved their heads bald in support of their team.

(center) Carlisle's, the store that has been the center of downtown for 125 years, closed this year along with other Carlisle's stores in the area. This included the newly opened store in the Ashtabula Mall.

Triumph and Tragedy

We were faced with many things this year from the closing of Carlisle's to the winning streak of the Indians to the deaths of famous people. Recently after moving to the mall, Carlisle's was forced into bankruptcy, and closed the downtown and mall stores. On May 10, a solar eclipse was visible to us for the first time in many years.

On April 4, Jacob's Field opened. With the encouragement of fans and the new field, the Indians won 19 games in a row at their home field. Indians' merchandise was the seventh best seller among all baseball teams and worn by many students this spring.

At the young age of 23, actor River Phoenix's life was taken by an overdose of drugs. The comedian actor John Candy also lost his life this year when he suffered a heart attack while filming his latest movie. Former President Nixon died on April 27 after being hospitalized for a stroke. Nirvana's lead singer, Kurt Cobain, tragically ended his life with a bullet. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis lost her life following her battle with cancer. The death of a world leader and several celebrities has been devastating for many people, including those of us at Harbor. But none was so tragic as the loss of Angela Fuller, a junior at Harbor and friend to many. Angela died November 13 in a car accident.

Tale As Old As Time

Knowing that the prom would come faster than expected, the class of 1995 got off to a quick start on earning their money. They had many different kinds of sales to earn the money to put on their "dream prom" with the help of their advisor Mrs. Lynne Montgomery.

Their hard work was well rewarded by the excellent turnout of over 200 for the 1994 junior/senior prom on May 7. The Mount Carmel Community Center was decorated beautifully by the juniors with spectacular decorations. Carrie Martin stated, "We spent many hours decorating for the prom. It was a lot of hard work, but it was worth it".

The juniors chose red and black to carry out their theme, "A Tale As Old As Time". Pictures were taken against a rose encased in glass by David Brais. A castle graced the room, and vases of roses were placed on each table. The class gave as their gift a glass vase containing red heart candies to all those who attended the prom.

Highlighting the evening was the announcement of the 1994 prom court. The court was picked by the senior class and included only senior couples. The students chose Alexandra Guerriero and Jason Frisbie to be crowned as their king and queen. They then led the court in a dance.

The prom ended at 12:00 A.M. with a final dance. In closing, Lezley Oz-bun remarked, "Everyone looked nice and we all had a lot of fun."

The Ties That Bind

After years of wondering what graduation would be like, the class of 1994 finally experienced their Commencement Exercise on June 1, in Fawcett Gymnasium.

Tirrell Brenneman began the ceremony with a brief and thoughtful invocation which was followed by class president Klaus Luhta giving a short speech about learning from our mistakes and presenting the class gift of a new Bose speaker system to the school.

The class addresses were then delivered by valedictorians Krista Blake, Cindy Ensell, and Carrie Tarantina. Also addressing the class were superintendent Dr. John Rose and Board of Education president Mary Ann Stevenson. The addresses were followed by the senior band members joining the band to play their selection of "Sinatra in Concert".

Scholarships were awarded, and then the time came for the presentation of the diplomas. The diplomas were presented by past principals Mr. Murray Blake, Mr. R. M. Meehan, Dr. William Clark, Mr. Gene Gephart, and Dr. William Licate in commemoration of the 100th graduating class. The ceremony ended with chorus senior Cory Thompson leading the class in the singing of the "Harbor Hymn".

The time has come for the class of 1994 to depart from dear old Harbor High. While heading off in different directions, they will always have Harbor to bond them together.

Mark of Excellence

On the morning of May 29, a feeling of achievement and pride swept Fawcett Gymnasium as the 1994 academic awards were presented to deserving students. The program, which has been traditionally held at the Elks Club, was held in the gym this year to accomodate the Centennial Celebration and Open House which immediately followed.

The program began with the 1994 induction of members into National Honor Society. Klaus Luhta led the ceremony as ten seniors and four juniors were presented with their membership cards and pins.

Senior Carrie Tarantina began the award distribution by receiving the Phi Beta Kappa Award. Following this Krista Blake and Stephanie Eames received recognition for being this year's Star Beacon reporters, and Andrea Emerick and Ian Valerio earned the American Legion Award. Jennifer Leonard received recognition for her ad sales in yearbook while Brooke Lane received recognition for editing this year's book. Darci

Cox was given the Edna Simmons Scholarship. The Jane Clark Memorial was given to Cindy Ensell, and the Wayne Wasulko Memorial went to Klaus Luhta. Brandy Piper and George Niinisto were presented with the Michael Kanne Memorials, and the Ohio All-State Academic Award went to Krista Blake.

This year's OHSAA Scholar-Athlete Awards were given to Luhta and Sherri Wagner. Ryan Whitmire was given the Marine Outstanding Athlete Award and Tarantina received the Marine Music Award.

Stephanie Lautanen received the North End Club Scholarship, Greg Leonard was given the Community Award, Emerick was awarded the Melinda Smyth Education Award, and Enola Elliott received both the Wenner-Lehtinen Memorial and the Kiwanis Club awards. Blake won the Ohio Academic, and along with Ensell and Tarantina received the Frances Lubahn Hanni Valedictorian awards.

Class ACT

Never is there an excuse to be bored at Harbor High. With an extensive array of activities and clubs to choose from, students can always find something that interests them. Those musically inclined can choose from band, choir, and the musical, while those academically inclined can aim for National Honor Society, which was established in 1926, or the Scholastic Team. Language clubs and special interest clubs abound at Harbor where they have thrived and grown since the early years when clubs first began their membership and activities.

Mariner "Magic!"

Most people do not realize the time and dedication that is necessary to be a member of the Mariner Marching Band. While most students are enjoying their summer vacations at the beach, the band is already hard at work preparing for the new season.

This work begins with Band Camp, held over the summer at Lake Chautauqua Lutheran Camp. This was the band's third year at the camp where they learned the competition show, "The Wizard of Oz", and got to know each other.

Once the school year got underway, the marching band could be seen in various areas locally. Aside from Friday night football games, they also participated in band shows at Conneaut and Edgewood, competitions, the rally to pass the school levy, and numerous parades. Soloists Bryan Dawson, Matt Nemeth, Krista Wallace, Stephanie Lautanen, Bridget Hoff, Peter Culver, and the percussion section were featured throughout the season.

Practice Makes Perfect

The Harbor Mariner Concert Band and Jazz Band, under the direction of Mr. Chuck Heusinger, have completed yet another successful season. Both working hard throughout the latter part of the school year, all of their endeavors were fruitful.

The Concert Band began the year with their winter concert followed by intense work towards district band competition which was held March 19. After receiving a one rating, the band had their work cut out for them as they prepared for state contest. State was held April 23 in Macedonia, Ohio, and received a one for their performance there as well. This was the first time in 23 years the band received a one at state. Following this, the band prepared for the Pops Concert in which they took the theme "A Salute To America's Music".

The jazz band also kept busy practicing and performing throughout the year. They performed at the Tri C and Lakeland Jazz Fests, at benefits dinners, and at elementary schools in the area. The band also performed for Harbor in a concert for all honor roll students and students with perfect attendance.

Charlie Hauff summed up the year by saying, "We made a lot of positive changes, and in doing so, improved the quality of our performances."

People and Places

Model United Nations

Being a member of Model U.N. is not only a learning experience, it is also fun. It is a chance to meet many interesting people and explore many new places. And through all of this, you are learning about key issues and countries around the globe.

There are many advantages to being a member of U.N. Colleges may notice membership and increase chances of acceptance. Also, new friends from OH, PA, and even Canada are made at the conferences.

Model U.N. is enjoyable, but it takes hours of hard work. Recognition was given to three delegations when they were awarded excellent ratings at the KSUAC Conference in March: Secretary General Bridget Hoff and Christie Frey, Manon Grugel and Jennifer Leonard, Under Secretary General Darci Cox and Zarema Arutyunova, and Jennifer Nardi, A-Team.

American Field Service

Who are the people who ask for donations every Wednesday and leave school once a month for a catered lunch? They are the members of American Field Service, the club that allows Harbor to host exchange students every year. This year's AFS student was Susanna Gabriel from Austria.

The club has to raise funds which help to pay the adult chapter and to provide the visiting student with a going away present. To do this, AFS has Penny Wednesday, a Mile of Pennies competition against Ashtabula High, and sponsors a dance. The club also travels to luncheons where they meet with AFS officers from other schools to catch up on business and listen to speakers.

This year's officers were: president Brooke Lane, vice presidents Bridget Hoff and Carrie Tarantina, secretary Jill Meaney, treasurer Bryan Dawson, and publicist Stephanie Lautanen.

German Club

While the 1993-94 German Club was not a very active organization, they did arrange a few fun activities within the course of the school year. A soccer match was organized in September against rival French students. Both sides gathered at TJ Elementary to watch the Germans defeat the French by, kindly put, a landslide.

The club was unable to take their traditional trip to the Hofbrau Haus, but they did not miss out on eating German food. Members were invited to enjoy bratwurst sandwiches at a lunch in early May. At the end of the month, a potluck dinner was arranged where students could sample and prepare many different German dishes and desserts.

Officers for this year included president Klaus Luhta; treasurer Marleen Allds; Germany I Rep. Julie Hathy; German II Rep. Jason Ables; German III Rep. Julie Surbella; and German IV Rep. Krista Blake.

—Stephanie Eames

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club was very active in the first semester of the school year. With a new adviser, Mrs. Joyce Hignite, they were off to a fresh start. A trip was taken to see a Spanish dance company followed by a meal at Chi Chi's restaurant. During the Christmas season they adopted a Hispanic family and donated old clothes and non-perishable food to them. They also, celebrated with a gift exchange and a party. All in all it was quite a productive year.

Officers this year included: president Alexandra Guerriero, vice president Sheila McCarthy, secretary Christie

Frey, and treasurer Angela Guerini.

Ski Club

For Harbor High School, the ski season lasts from the first week of January until the last week of February. Every Thursday night for eight weeks the ski club travels to Peek N' Peak Ski Resort, Clymer, New York. The bus arrives in New York about 5:30 P.M. and leaves about 10:30 P.M.

To pay for the tour bus taken every week, each member must sell a couple of cases of candy. In recalling the season, Andy Meschko said, "The skiing was great when the ski patrol wasn't harassing us." About half the members of the club snowboard and the other half ski.

Office Aids

Being an office aide is fun, interesting and an honor. To become an office aide one must have a study hall and apply.

In the main office, students work with Mrs. Andrews and Mr. Yocum. Their jobs include answering the phone, running errands, and best of all, getting to know Mrs. Andrews.

Working in the assistant principal's office is a great job. They pass out the attendance sheets, retrieve people from class, and call home to verify absences. Bryan Dawson stated, "Working with Mr. Powell and Mrs. Hassett is best described by Mrs. Hassett's first name . . . Joy."

Those who work in the guidance office get to work with Mr. Nappi, Mr. Stalker and Mrs. Acierno. Answering the phone, sorting report cards are all jobs from this office.

-Allison Ranta

CALC Club

There is a group of intellectually inclined students at Harbor High, and they are the members of the CALC Club. But anyone passing Room 212 fourth period, probably wouldn't think much intense studying was taking place.

Led by Mrs. Barbara Josson, the 26 seniors enjoyed everything from exchanging Christmas gifts to hugging a tree on Earth Day. Heated debates were started, and Dr. Seuss books like The Sneetches and Green Eggs and Ham were read.

"The Calculus" is not always fun and games. When we got down to work we were introduced to the world of derivatives and integrals. Krista

Wallace summed up the year by saying, "Calc was probably the most enjoyable class I have ever had!"

-Brooke Lane

FHA

Each Work and Family Life class has a chapter of FHA. Their monthly meetings are held during class and include a meeting, program, and refreshments.

Programs this year have included speakers from McDonald's, Barbizon Modeling School, and Pennsylvania Institute of Culinary Arts. They had discussions on AIDS and Ethnic backgrounds, as well as a survey of how Christmas is celebrated by Harbor families. Also, they made cards, crafts, and visited Ashtabula Care Center to pass out Easter baskets.

Beyond the Line of Duty

Yearbook

The yearbook staff has been hard at work since before school began. This summer the theme and design of the yearbook was decided. When that was done, they began work on the actual yearbook pages.

Working on the yearbook is not an easy task. There is always copy that needs to be written, pictures to be taken, spreads that need designing, and copy that needs to be proofed. All of these jobs require creativity and a lot of time.

Having a small staff this year made their jobs even harder. The deadlines approached sooner than could be expected. However, working into the summer made it possible to get the job done. Mrs. Alice Fritts served as adviser and Brooke Lane was the editor.

Newspaper

Aside from their normal studies, the AP English class also puts out a newspaper. This year the paper was distributed three times. The first paper introduced all of the new faculty. The second paper talked of sports and the musical. The final paper was the "Senior Paper" which included the senior wills, class prophecies, and a short article about our valedictorians. They worked hard to make those three papers and did a great job on them.

Harbor Happenings

Harbor Happenings has been on the air just three short years. It has broadcast the morning announcements and other crazy things every school day. This year more than one duo anchored the show alternating weeks which was great for variety.

The staff was led by Mrs. Lynne Montgomery. Those anchoring were: Bryan Dawson, Matt Nemeth, Stacy Theis, Klaus Luhta, Angela Donato, Tiffany Vanyo, Kari Mongenel, John Baum, Stacy Rohm, and Anthony St. Angelo. Jennifer Pauler served as the technical assistant.

National Honor Society

Good character, scholarship, service, and leadership are the characteristics that make a person eligible to be nominated and accepted into National Honor Society. For the majority of the year, the NHS consisted of the thirteen seniors that were inducted last school year. At the Academic Awards Ceremony in May, fourteen students were inducted.

Helping handicapped children learn to swim and have fun in the water at the YMCA was just one of the service projects the group decided to do this year. Another service project the members took on was editing the autobiographies for Mrs. Rosemary Timonere's seventh grade class at Columbus. After editing the autobiographies, they met with the students to discuss their projects.

Scholastic Bowl Team

When the Harbor Scholastic Bowl Team competed on Channel 5 for the Academic Challenge, they did very well for their first time on television. The team this year consisted of Krista Blake, Stephanie Lautanen, Jason Frisbie, Carrie Tarantina, Gary Feiler, and Sara Hanselman. Mr. Frank Roskovics served as the advisor for the team.

Student Council

This was the first year in which students ran for office by giving their campaign speech on closed-circuit tv. After officers and members were elected in the early fall, the student council, along with their advisor Miss Lisa Martino, held their meetings at Perkins on Sunday mornings. One of their activities was to serve as tour guides at the open house for the centennial celebration on Sunday, May 29, 1994. They enjoyed showing former graduates the aspects of the building which have changed along with those which have remained the same.

Putting Ideas to Work

Junior Achievement

The Junior Achievement members of Harbor High School tasted the sweet benefits of success this 1993-94 school year. Students are "hired" into one of six different companies. A company elects or chooses officers that will run the organization. The other members make up the work force and handle the actual production of the products.

Students from all the local schools can join JA when they have reached sophomore status and can be a member for three years. It takes a lot of hard work and dedication to make a successful company. If you're an officer you must make all the decisions concerning the way the company is run. With all this hard work and time, students can learn about the corporate structures and how a company runs.

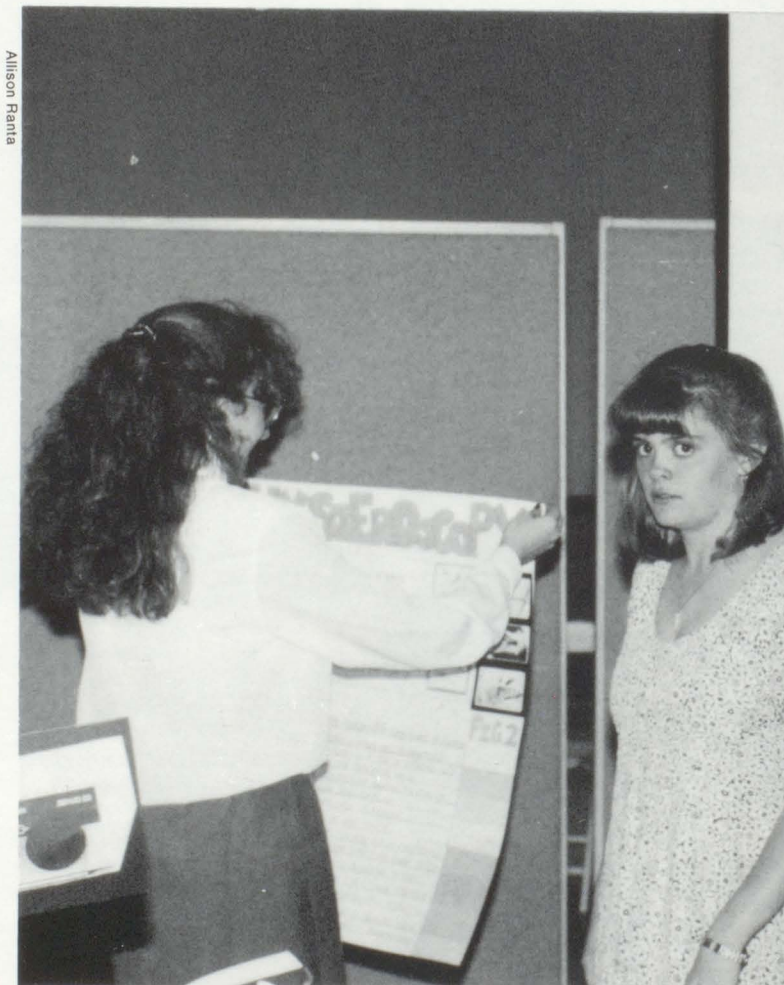

-Brandy Piper

Mentorship

Mentorship is a program set up by Mrs. Eloise Coxé through the Ashtabula Schools Enrichment Program. This gives area high school juniors and seniors the chance to experience their prospective career by observing and working with a mentor in their workplace. Mentorship program requires students to put in 60 hours of work and complete and present their project at a Rotary luncheon.

Three juniors from Harbor participated in the program this year and they were Marleen Allds, Manon Grugel, and Jason Yost. Marleen mentored with a local pediatrician. Jason spent his time studying with an architect, Mr. Robert Fiala of Willoughby. Manon has mentored with an astrophysicist due to her interest in science and math.

Anything But Ordinary

Business Club

This year the Business Club decided to go to Toronto for its trip. At 3:00 a.m. Wednesday, May 4, the eighteen students and four chaperons departed for Canada. They were treated to a special effects show at The Pantages Theatre at 10:30. Afterward, it was off to Eaton Center for lunch and shopping. At two o'clock they returned to the theater for a performance of the Phantom of the Opera. Next they boarded the bus and were off to Niagara Falls for dinner and to view the beautiful, illuminated falls. They returned home exhausted from the day's activities at 1 a.m. Thursday night.

The Business Club also sponsored their annual volleyball tournament. This year's Business Club officers were: president/treasurer Ed McCarthy and secretary Stacy Rohm.

-Tonya Miller

Teen Institute

"Don't Rock the Boat-Don't Tip the Bottle!" was the motto of the HHS Teen Institute. With the help of advisor Mrs. Connie Chmielewski and her time and patience, the group had ten members go through a training session and skit course. Those skills were put to work when members attended Washington Elementary's Drug Free Day. Harbor teens presented a skit and spoke with the students. It was a successful program in which both sides learned something new.

T.I. also took part in the "Beat Bula" Parade during football season. During Red Ribbon Week, the Grim Reaper made the usual rounds of claiming victims, and at Christmas time, ribbons were tied to the cars in the parking lot to remind people to have a safe and drug and alcohol free holiday.

Senior Women

The 1994 Senior Women were off to a great start this year. Their officers were: president Sara Hanselman, vice president Cindy Ensell, treasurer Brooke Lane, and secretary Stephanie Lautanen. They began by designing a float for the "Beat Bula" parade. Working after school at Debi Snyder's house the girls transformed cardboard boxes and paint into the "S.W. Mariner". Half dressed as Mariners and rode inside the "ship" while the others, dressed as Panthers, walked along the side on their purple and gold leashes. The next big event for the women was Homecoming. The seniors decided on the theme "Strangers in the Night" and went to work decorating. At Christmas, the women sent Christmas cards to the men and women in the military overseas. They even received a few letters of thanks in return.

Jobs for Ohio Graduates

Community service was highest on the JOGS students' agendas this year. Headed by adviser Mrs. Maureen Mottley and officers Tirrell Brenneman, Chad Cummings, Tiffany Vanyo, Julie Christen, and Chrissy Mason, they adopted a family at Thanksgiving, donated supplies to Homesafe, and bought videotapes for the pediatric ward at the hospital. To earn money for these activities, they sold candy.

The group also participated in regional and state competitions. Voting was based on public speaking, decision making, interviews, employment tests, telephone technique, and poster theme. Although they did not do as well as hoped, Brenneman did place first in public speaking and Debi Snyder placed third in regionals.

Creativity at Work

Thespian Club

This past year the Thespian Club held their traditional Christmas carnation sale and presented the spring musical "Fiddler on the Roof". "The club was brought together this year because of all the hard work put into the play," said Brooke Lane. The Thespian Club was lead by a new, yet familiar face this year. Mrs. Kaye Peel, who in the past has choreographed Harbor musicals, advised the club this year with the help of Mrs. Kathleen Milford.

Officers this year included: president Brooke Lane, vice president Matt Nemeth, secretary Christie Frey, and treasurer Jennifer Nardi.

Art Club

This year's art club enjoyed such activities as designing and selling the felt spirit badges at lunch on Fridays before football games, and holding a Raku workshop with the Ash-tabula Arts Center in the spring. Although no trips were taken this year, a good time was had by all participating in activities.

Officers this year were: president Gary Karbacka, vice president Tae Chong, secretary Tony Cipolletta, and treasurer Marleen Allds.

-Brooke Lane

Industrial Arts Club

Industrial Arts class is not just all work; there are some opportunities to have fun. By joining the Industrial Arts Club, students have a chance to use their skills in ways they would not be able to in the classroom. This spring, the club took a canoe trip down the Grand River. They also had a Pine Wood Derby in which most everyone participated. Their main objective, however, is to raise money to buy new tools and other equipment for the upcoming industrial arts students. This year they earned their money by selling M&M's.

Their officers this year were: president Jason Church, vice president Jerry Hastings, secretary Brandy Piper, and treasurer Brandy Piper.

Performing With Pride

The 1994 Harbor Choir went through a lot of hard times this year, yet they still managed to perform with excellence. Mrs. Kathleen Milford has been directing the choir since 1979 and hopes to stay on as director in the years to come. "This year's choir was mostly new faces, but when the dedicated members performed, we were the best of friends having fun, especially on the bus rides!" said Jose Rodriquez.

The choir has performed at colleges, retirement centers, junior high schools, area high schools, and at Harbor's annual Pops Concert. They have performed songs from as early as the Dark Ages, like "Cantate Domino" all the way down to 1986's hit "God Bless the USA". From Broadway tunes to sacred hymns, the Harbor choir sang each song with spirit, feeling, and intensity.

The upper classmen in this year's choir were in the minority. Having only one senior and three juniors however, did not impare the sound heard from the music they made. Cory Thompson, being the only senior in choir, showed leadership serving as president.

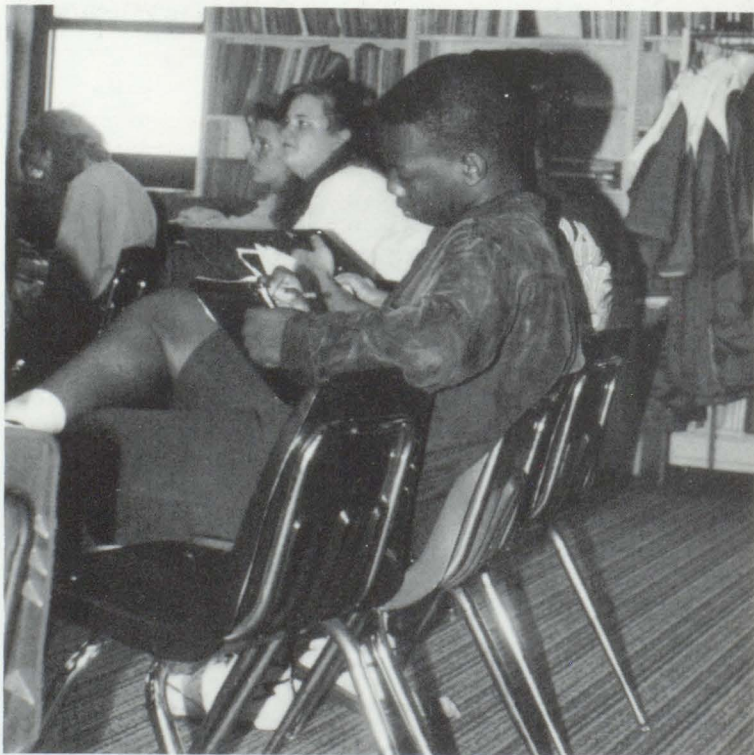

The officers this year were as follows: president Cory Thompson, vice president Amanda Sizemore, secretary Becky Bobbitt, treasurer Jose Rodriquez, and freshman representative Windy Lee.

Fiddler on the Roof

With the end of winter came Harbor High's spring musical "Fiddler on the Roof." After weeks of rehearsals everyone involved could feel the excitement as the performances neared.

The story takes place in Anatevka, an old Russian village full of traditions and the home of Tevye, his wife Golde, and their five daughters. In this Jewish village, all marriages are arranged by Yente, the Matchmaker, to the dismay of Tevye's daughters.

Trouble begins when Tevye's oldest daughter Tzeitel wants to marry Motel, the tailor, but she has already been promised to Lazar Wolf, the butcher. Seeing his daughter's love, he agrees to break tradition and allow them to marry. To convince Golde of the match, he fabricates a terrible dream, and she gives her consent.

Tevye finds himself in another quandry when his daughter Hodel wants to marry Perchik, a student from Kiev. He eventually allows her to be with Perchik. Soon after, she must leave her family to be with him because he had been arrested in Siberia.

Meanwhile, his daughter Chava has fallen in love with Fyedka, a Christian. This love is strictly forbidden, and Tevye ends up disowning Chava after she marries Fyedka.

The story ends with the villagers being thrown out of their homes by the Russians and a bittersweet reconciliation between Chava and her family.

The 1914 girls' basketball team became State Champions that year under Coach Ferguson.

The football team was only two games away from having a perfect season, gymnast Caron Osburn became the first Harbor female to advance to district competition in her sport, and Tirrell Brenneman and Sheila McCarthy broke school records and high jumped their way to state competition. Reflecting on this year and those in the past, one finds that as the years pass more goals are reached and team records from the past serve as goals to aim for.

COMMENDABLE

The 1993 golf season was filled with many ups and downs. While preparing for the upcoming season, the team also had to deal with adjusting to a different course and a new coach. Mike Valentic said, "We had to work extra hard just to maintain our normal practice level."

This year's squad was young and included only two senior letterwinners, Mike Valentic and Anthony St. Angelo (MVP). Placing in the middle of the N.E.C., these golfers helped the team to finish with a 10-8 winning record. Aside from St. Angelo and Valentic, the varsity team included seniors Tim Higgins and David Rich, and juniors Jerry Hastings, Chuck Heath and Andy Meschko.

The golf team put forth a commendable effort this year and had a productive season. Coach Rick Bryant also added, "It was an exciting first year for me. The guys all gave 100% out there."

IMPROVING

The 1993 cross country team was faced with many challenges this season. While this made the year a tough one, it also made it more exciting as runners strived to beat the odds and do their best.

The boys' team was led by senior captains Ed McCarthy and Matt Nemeth, and senior Ian Elliott. "Although we had no star on the team, we improved from the year before and almost everyone ran their best times," said McCarthy. Nemeth added, "This year was definitely more productive for us than last year. We all improved vastly and had fun doing it."

The girl's team was not quite as lucky as they faced a tough year without any returning letterwinners. With only six girls on team, they quickly learned to work together. As sophomore Sheila McCarthy said, "I enjoyed having a small team because we all got to know each other really well."

When the season was over, awards were given to Ed McCarthy and Stacy Theis, MVP, and John Sivak and Liz Balog, Most Improved Runners.

STILL GROWING

The 1993 volleyball season was one of challenges and triumphs. The team faced many difficult matches against some of the best teams in the area. The result may not have always been a win but was always a positive learning experience.

Coach Frank Roskovics and three seniors, captain Stacy Rohm, Sherri Wagner, and Fawne Svigelj, led the varsity team. Although the team did not have a winning season, their losses were not due to a lack of determination and spirit. Rohm stated, "Too many problems arose during the season for us to have a winning season, but Coach Roskovics made a successful effort to bring the team together."

At the fall sports awards banquet, team members received awards for their efforts during the season. Wagner was awarded best offense, Tiffany Condon and Rohm received best defense, and Svigelj received the award for the most spirit.

With the promise of young varsity and junior varsity talent and the impression that was left by graduating seniors, the Lady Mariners hope to have a successful season in the years to follow.

TWO POINTS AWAY

The 1993 football season is one that no one will ever forget. The Mighty Mariners were two points away from a perfect season. Using their combination of talents, the Mariners came off the field as winners of eight out of ten of their games.

Senior captain Ryan Whitmire recalled the season. "This was the best team I've ever been associated with. It's just too bad that two points had to decide our season." The team was also led by senior captains Tae Chong, Klaus Luhta, and Ian Valerio.

Although the team was not victorious in the NEC, a few individual members had victories of their own. Junior Marcus McCaleb rushed for over 1,000 yards and was named the team's MVP. Luhta was given a special award for his accomplishments by receiving the Jim Kanicki Weise Scholarship Award.

This team was full of great athletes, and will likely be remembered as one of the most well-rounded teams to come through Harbor. Even though they didn't win the NEC, in the end the members of this team can still be considered winners.

EXCEPTIONAL

The Harbor High School Cheerleaders have been working hard to make this year's athletic events memorable for all. Cheerleading is usually a "thankless" job because most people do not realize how much work really goes into it. "Our cheerleaders this year have been the best we've had at Harbor for a very long time," commented the advisor Marianne Ketchum.

Marianne has been the advisor for two years now and hopefully will stay on for years to come. Although Marianne is the "official ad-

DIVING IN

Swimming is the sport that many do not know exists at Harbor. It does, and the Harbor swimmers are extremely proud of what they do. The team consists of seniors Allison Ranta and Debi Snyder, junior Marleen Allds, sophomore Jacob Ranta, and freshman Bryan Mills.

The typical swimmer's day starts off with a "before school" 5:00 a.m. practice. Then, like all other students, they attend classes for the next seven hours. Unlike any other students, they then head back to the Y for their one hour after school practice.

This was an exceptional year for the swimmers. Beginning new trends this year, a NEO meet was developed for the benefit of all of the swimmers in the area. The meet's main purpose was to give the swimmers another shot at receiving a letter. Before, the only chance the swimmers had was to place in the top ten at Champion-

"Once you are really involved in the sport and have been in it for so long, it's hard to just let go of it, no matter how frustrated or upset you get." -Caron Osburn ships which is quite an accomplishment. The swimmers are looking forward to next year's season, and hope they will receive more support.

-Allison Ranta

It takes strength, determination, talent, and practice all year round. The Harbor gymnastics team has practiced at the Chalk Box for the last ten years. Jennifer Wolfert and Caron Osburn have proved that this is what it takes.

On February 19 they went to the sectional competition in which Osburn became the first female from Harbor to ever advance to district competition. Although she didn't continue on to regionals, it was a respectable showing for the school. "Going to districts was a hard task to accomplish, but it was all worth it in the end," says Osburn.

To avoid the before competition pressure, Jennifer and Caron like to joke around and relax. "Competing at the high school meet was really fun. It was an experience that I will never forget," Wolfert said.

RIGOROUS

As November rolled around, sounds such as the basketball shoes squeaking, balls bouncing, coaches shouting, and players moaning could be heard drifting from Fawcett Gymnasium.

These were the sweet sounds of the upcoming 1993-94 Harbor J.V. and Varsity Boys' Basketball season. Tri-captains Gary Karbacka, Klaus Luhta, and Ryan Whitmire and the rest of the team had a tough job ahead of them. With only these three returning players with Varsity experience, Coach Andrew Isco and assistants Dan Craft and Tim Tallbacka had their work cut out for them as they entered the rigorous season.

The players knew what it took to win and showed it in every game and practice. Refusing to give up, they were winners in spite of their 6-15 record.

Ryan Whitmire said though it was a rough season, it pulled us together.

After the season was completely over, the team received the sad news that Coach Isco would most likely not be returning to coach next year's team. The players will miss him dearly.

BENEFITS

The girls' varsity basketball team had a rough year, but their efforts were supported by their head coach Mr. Michael Hassett. Seniors Stacy Theis, Stacy Rohm, and Shannon Gramley led their team to an overall record of six wins and fifteen losses, (NEC Record 6-12). Stacy Theis said, "Even though we had a disappointing season, all of my teammates made it a lot of fun and an experience that I will never forget."

girls. They responded to the downfalls with more power to finish off the year as best as possible.

The junior varsity girls got the season off to a better start. With the assistance of their coach Mr. Paul Bodnar, their final overall record was twelve and eight, (NEC 10-8). The season had many positive benefits for the team and also the spirit of the players. Not letting defeat bring down your game was really important to the morale of the girls. They kept going and that brought them victory for their efforts.

GAINING STRENGTH

In the winter months at Harbor High School there can be found a select group of young men who eat salads for lunch everyday instead of mashed potatoes and pizza. Ones who can sometimes be heard obsessing about their weight and even worrying about losing as little as one or two pounds "to meet weight requirements". And what exactly are these "requirements?" Just ask any one of these young men, otherwise known as the wrestling team, to find out.

Although the 1993-94 wrestling team was a

"young" team, the guys did not let this discourage them. With only three seniors, four juniors, five sophmores, and three freshmen, they were led by captains, Ian Elliott, Mike Nelson, and Chris Wyman. Sophomore Anthony Weir placed third in the Kenston sectionals, qualified for Districts and took third in the NEC. He was also named All County Wrestler at 103 lbs. The Harbor team won the Grand Valley Tournament and took fifth place in the Erie Flagship Tournament.

NET GAINS

With the onset of a rebuilding year and numerous player illnesses and injuries, the Harbor tennis team may not have broken any records. However, the record of 1-19 overall and 1-17 in the NEC does not reflect the competitive spirit of the players or how close some of their matches really were.

This year the team once again participated in the Multiple Sclerosis Racquetfest. The sentiment of the team was expressed by Peter Culver when he stated, "It's nice to get in a scrimmage or two before the season begins to test out your skills, and when you're helping someone at the same time it just makes you feel good."

The Harbor tennis team also hosted its first annual "Harbor Tennis Classic" from June 9-12, raising money for necessary supplies in 1995. The tournament was held on the newly-resurfaced courts beside Harbor-Topky Library, which were another new and helpful addition to Harbor tennis. Coach Maureen Novak said of the season, "Although we faced many obstacles, I feel we did our best to overcome them."

FLYING HIGH

The boys' track team experienced many new heights this year. Kermit Butcher, for instance, got the chance to see what it felt like to miss the pit while pole vaulting and landed on his head at Harvey. Tirrell Brenneman also set a new height standard by high jumping his way into many record books. Not only did he break Harbor's record by clearing 6' 10", but he, Ed McCarthy, and Matt Lanigan cracked the Perry Relay Record. Tirell was Harbor's only male representative at the state meet where he placed fifth with an incredible 6' 6" clearance.

"It's nice to be in track because one can meet a lot of friends, have fun, and represent their school at the same time." - Frank Luc

Senior Ed McCarthy had this to say about the team, "We may not have had a great record, but we still gave it our all. I'm sure next year's team will do better with Marcus McCaleb and John Mitchell coming back." Whatever the future may hold, this one will go down in history, and in the record books for the hundredth year at Harbor High School.

Frank Luc added, "It's nice to be in track because one can meet a lot of friends, have fun, and represent their school at the same time."

The 1994 girls' track team finished with a decent record. After overcoming all of the injuries, aches, and pains, the girls' track team ended up with two good combinations of relays that qualified for district finals. They were the 100 meter relay which consisted of Allison Ruuska, Tiffany Vanyo, Megan Malinowski, and Jenny Herl, and the 200 meter relay which consisted of Ruuska, Malinowski, Edina McCollum, and Herl.

Sheila McCarthy also helped the team on their way to a successful season by remaining undefeated in every meet, including Regionals. Sheila represented Harbor at the state meet in June in Columbus and took second place with a jump of 5' 6". The amazing jump also landed her the new school record.

Even though the field team did not always do as well as they had wanted and they were minus some of their key competitors, the determination and hard work of the girls helped to overthrow most of the competitors. To finish a great season with a little sense of humor Susanna Luhta said, "Some inspirational advice, if it hurts stop."

HEROIC EFFORT

Mariner baseball was led by returning seniors Gary Karbacka, Ryan Whitmire, Anthony St. Angelo, D.J. Condon, John Baum, and Chris Wyman. Even without Whitmire, these seniors did a commendable job in leading their teammates to a 13-10 overall record and 10-8 NEC record. The team also managed to win Sectionals against Ashtabula; this was quite an accomplishment considering all of the disappointments the team experienced this year. Coach Dan Craft had this to say about the team, "Whitmire got mononucleosis after nine games and, considering he was the team's leading player both offensively and defensively, that really hurt the team. One good thing came out of the loss, though. The team really pulled together well to compensate for the loss of Whitmire."

The team was fortunate in the number of players to make first team all county. Ron Cole and Chris Wyman made first team outfield. Troy Tulino made first team infield, Andy Meschko made first team pitcher and D.J. Condon made first team designated hitter.

COMING HOME

The 1994 softball season was an exciting year for the Lady Mariners. They had a very fine overall record of 14 and 7, and NEC record of 12 and 6 which put them in a respectable fourth place.

At the beginning of the season I was asked about the keys to success for our team. We needed to play good defense and offense. We had everything but luck.

The six league losses were very close games. The most glaring deficiency was our inability to hit in the clutch. There were times in these situations that we did hit the ball hard but right to an opponent who would make a great play. With a little more luck and a few more hits we might have celebrated an NEC Championship.

The girls played very hard this year. Some of the highlights were: winning the first City Series Championship ever, breaking the record for team defense with .930 fielding average, breaking the record for least amount of runs given up, and tied the record for fewest earned runs. Sherri Wagner broke the school record for runs scored in a career with 67 runs.

tremendously throughout the years. There are also more male teachers now than in the past. Some the earliest known faculty included Mr. Frank Dille, Mr. J. C. Logan, Mr. T. D. Brooks, Mr. R. A. Andrews, Professor W. H. King, and Assistant Principal Mella Sillman.

Senior Class

The class of 1994 finally entered their senior year after three years of hard work. It always seemed like this day would never come, and once it arrived it didn't seem quite real.

As the school year began, seniors celebrated the fact that they were finally at the top of the school. Some seniors even tried to pull that old "elevator and swimming pool pass" trick on many of the freshmen, and, suprisingly enough, a few of them fell for it.

Many of the old privileges were brought back this year and yet some were taken away. We were able to have class tournaments again for the first time since our freshman year. However, the class was declined the privilege of going home during seventh period study hall. "I guess they had our best interests in mind and I'm sure they had their reasons, but it still stinks," said Krissy Danal-

As the year went on, seniors finally began to realize that this was the end of the road. It was time to enter the "real world". It was a year of many decisions. What college to go to, or what to do if you decided not to go. Even though they had been dreaming of graduation for a long time, they became nervous and much more sentimental as the day approached. "It was a great year, and we all became much closer," said Krista Wallace.

This year's class is special in many ways. The most significant of these is that it is the 100th graduating class of Harbor High. Because of this, there was an open house on May 29 for former graduates to come in and look at the school to see how it has both changed and stayed the same, but mostly to reminisce.

Juniors

One decision following another makes up your junior year. This is the year that we have to start thinking about our future. "What do you want to do with your life?" is a question frequently asked. Along with the future plans we have research papers, SAT's & ACT's. McKenzie Layfield remarks about the research paper saying, "I think it was hard getting the information and I was glad to get done with it." Many sleepless nights were spent getting together note cards & bibliography cards. "It took a lot of time and hard work. I was so relieved when it was all over", explained Katie

This year was the first year for us to experience class tournaments. Our class spirit was brought "back to Bedrock". With the help of Mrs. Montgomery and our class officers, we had a great time.

The highlight of our year was Prom. This year's "Tale as Old as Time" theme was a great choice. Our class advisor, Mrs. Lynn Montgomery, always kept on the ball. Fundraisers were endless, but the results were worth all of the M & M's in the world.

Sophomores

In the Sophomore level vocabulary workbooks, students were presented with the word sophomoric, labeling them and their classmates as self-assured and immature. In a way it is true. The new freshmen were so incapable now that the sophomores were out of that stage, but they still weren't as wonderful as they thought they were. They were still victim to all those upper-classmen pranks yet not willing to admit their defeat. Aubrey Neimi said, "This year people kind of treated you more like a person than some dumb nothing that doesn't know what they're doing."

Along with new opportunities came new responsibilities and more difficult decisions. Students were asked to begin thinking about what they want to do when they finish school and if Vocational School was an option for them. With a class trip for all who were interested, some sophomores made their choice to attend ACJVS their junior year. The trip made others decide that their direction was towards college or the work force. "The trip to Vo-Ed gave me a chance to check out another one of my options," said Greg Simon.

Class Tournaments gave the sophomore girls' basketball team a chance to shine while the boys' team was only points away from victory. The spirit of the class was very important in the outcome of the event and it was shown from the night of decorating to the last game on Friday. "Class Tournaments brought out a lot of enthusiasm and pride in the sophomores," Jennifer Lyon.

Freshmen

Anxious. Nervous. Excited. These were just a few of the feelings the freshmen experienced during their first week of school. Like many other new things in life, high school is something you have to get used to. After coming from junior high, the things you experience in high school can be overwhelming.

Beginning the year with clubs and extra curricular activities was enjoyable for the freshmen. Many students joined band, language clubs, Model U.N., Student Council, and participated in a wide variety of sports.

When taking the proficiency test, the students scored well for their first time having to take it. Thirty-two percent of the freshman passed all four of the tests. Mindy Mead states, "The proficiencies were a challenge." The tests were not as bad as the freshmen expected. The freshmen pulled together as they went through the school year. As Freshman Class Secretary Courtney Campbell said, "I believe that by the end of the year we will have many memorable experiences and a sense of relief that we will not get picked on as much next year." Our freshman year certainly will be a year to remember for all of us.

Intellectual

English, Foreign Languages, and Interactive Television

During your freshman and sophomore years of English you are introduced to different styles of writing. Some of the authors you read are Jack London, Shakespeare, and Poe. You have both literature and grammar, but in sophomore english writing begins to be emphasized.

Juniors focus mostly on literature. There is a period of about two months that they spend on writing their research papers. There is also more poetry, the memorization of a poem to recite before the class, delivering a "famous person" speech.

Seniors study British Literature. There is no grammar for the seniors, but they do have to write a paper using their grammar skills. The senior AP English class writes The Mariner newspaper and the class teaches for about a month.

Foreign languages students can choose from are German, French, Spanish, and Latin.

German I, II, III, and IV were taught by Mrs. Kaura who also teaches over ITV. Watching German movies and translating articles from Juma magazine are ways Mrs. Kaura helps the students to learn German.

Spanish is a difficult yet interesting class. Spanish I and II were taught by Mrs. Stevenson, while Spanish III and IV were taught by Mrs. Hignite. Spanish students learned about the culture and held fiestas.

French I, II, III, and IV were taught by Mrs. Swogger. The students worked on their dialogues and other class work. These students participated in Mardi Gras and played soccer against the Germans.

Latin is one of the newer languages at Harbor. It is taught over ITV by Mrs. Johnson from Ashtabula High.

Math, Computer, Business, and Typing

Math, typing, and computer are subjects that are not taken lightly here at Harbor. Mrs. Josson, Mr. McQuaide, Mr. Rapose and Mrs. Chmielewski, Mrs. Hornbeck, Mr. Haywood and Mrs. Horton teach these wonderful classes.

In Business Math students learn the basic math concepts needed to start and run a small business. In Algebra I, students learn how to solve and graph linear equations. They also begin to learn how to graph those linear equations. Algebra II continues these ideas and introduces logarithms.

Consumer math and newly developed senior college math were also taught this year. In consumer math, students are taught about checking accounts and income taxes. Senior college math was started this year and involves a thorough review of trigonometry, geometry, Algebra I, and Algebra II.

Sophomores typically take geometry and often wonder, "How am I going to proof these problems?", but there is a way to do it right. Robin Champlin said, "I didn't know much about planes and angles before, but I sure know an awful lot about them now thanks to Mr. McQuaide."

The trigonometry class learns basically about graphing sine and cosine. This class continues ideas which were initially introduced in Algebra II. Following trig is one nine weeks of Pre-Calculus. Then it is on to "The Calculus" and the complicated world of derivatives, integrals, and more difficult graphs.

Typing is an important skill and is taught here at Harbor. Following typing is computer in which students learn WordPerfect 5.0, Data Base, Turbo Pascal, VP Planner, and how a computer works.

Deep in Thought

Geography, World and American History, Government, and Psychology

In World Geography class the students are given every opportunity to get to know the world better. They are often required to memorize the different countries. It is not an easy class, but in the long run it definitely pays off to have the knowledge that you accumulate from that class.

World History is generally taught to sophomores. It is a class that teaches you the events that are occurring throughout the world, that is all of the recorded events. There are many new and interesting things that are studied in World History such as, Lucy, the oldest human being known to man.

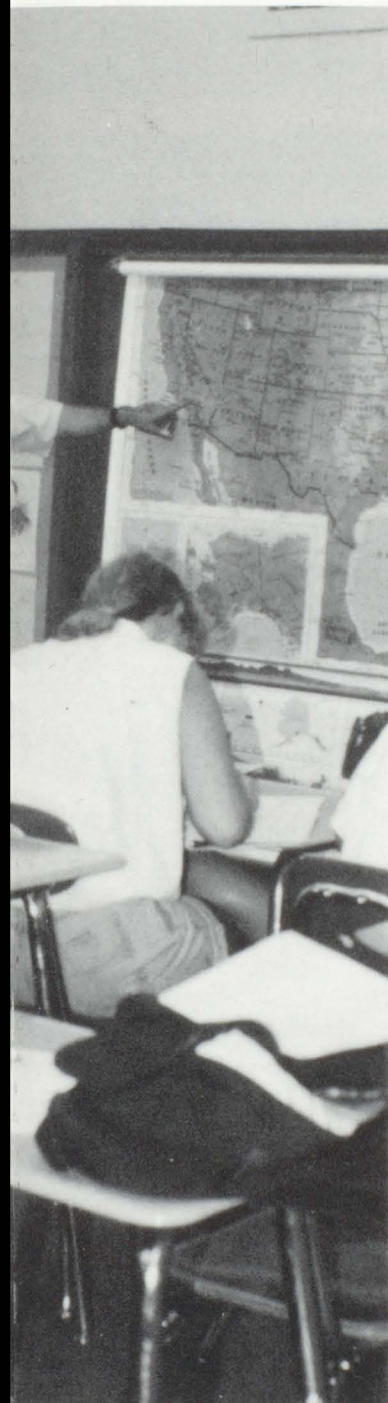

The students taking American History are given the opportunity to learn about the events that have involved the United States alone. It goes into greater detail than World History and, therefore, has more memorization. You study the Civil War, World War

I, World War II, and even Desert Storm.

American Government is a class that is required of all seniors in order to graduate. In government, students study the Constitution in great detail, memorize the presidents in order, and study local and state government. They are also given the opportunity to create their own country and write its constitution, make a map, and make their country's flag.

Psychology is not a required class. It is taken by those who are interested in learning about how and why humans act the way they do. They learn about the theories of Sigmund Freud and Carl Jung. They also learn about emotions, mental illnesses and the different ways of treating these problems.

Advancing

Sciences, Health, Physical Education

Having many sciences to choose from allows students the chance to take the one that best suits their interests. They can choose from general sciences to more advanced sciences.

Biology I is the study of the basic properties of living organisms. Freshman Julie Blum remarked, "In Biology I, we do interesting dissections to learn how body systems work." After completing this, students can go on to Biology II. This subject focuses on the environmental system and human physiology. "Biology II is exciting because you learn how you can take part in the conservation of our environment," said sophomore Brooke Collister.

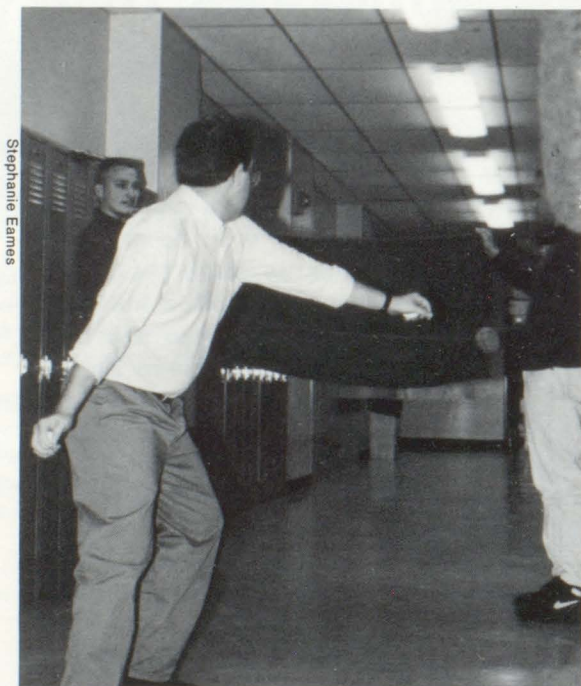

Earth Science teaches land formations, earth movement, and rocks and minerals. Sophomore Josh Maunus stated, "Mr. Josson makes class fun and interesting!"

The chemistry and physics, two classes offered to juniors and seniors, were taught by a newcomer, Mr. David Kohler. Chemistry is a class in which you learn about the basic concepts of matter and energy through experiments. Physics is based on ideas more than properties. "Physics was full of interesting labs and is good for people who want to know how things work," commented senior Jay Shinault.

Health and physical education are two related subjects which are required in order to graduate. Mr. Andrew Kiphart was introduced into this department this year. In health students learn about egos, smoking, alcohol abuse, and eating disorders. In gym students play a variety of sports, such as floor hockey, volleyball, and gymnastics. Christie Frey said, "Having gym for only half a year was great, and health taught us a lot about body maintenance."

Ideas on Display

Art, Industrial Arts, Work and Family Life

Creativity abounds at Harbor in art, industrial arts, and work and family life classes. The swish of paint brushes, buzz of sanders, and aroma of the latest delicacy are not uncommon throughout the year.

The art classes, which are taught by Mrs. Ann Rapose, participate in everything from oil and water color painting to pencil drawings to working with clays to having a Raku workshop. Students are always busy at work and enjoying every minute of it. Art students' work is often displayed in the case by the Guidance Office throughout the year so all students can enjoy their efforts.

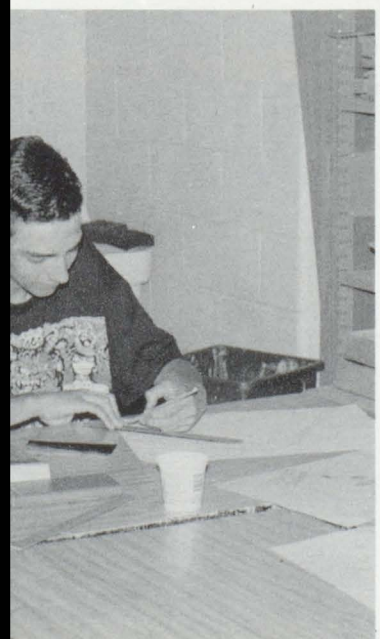

Although one may think industrial arts is all woodwork, there are three drawing classes available as well, all of which are taught by Mr. Ty McCunn. Bookwork takes up half of the first year followed by easy projects. Books are continually reviewed while projects such as a puzzle, recipe box, bread board, and a wall shelf are made. After this, students are free to choose their own creations which have varied from folding lawn chairs to even a kayak.

Tiffany Condon says, "Shop class is a lot of fun, you are with your friends and you have a good time. Mr. McCunn will make fun of you the same as anyone else, no matter if you are male or female."

Work and Family Life, formerly known as Home Economics, encompasses the teaching of sewing, cooking, self-esteem and values, parenting, and household properties. The department is divided into two rooms, the sewing and cooking rooms, which are covered by Mrs. Carolyn Hansford and Mrs. Paulette Lane. The two teachers trade rooms throughout the year as their curriculums change.

Future Success

Ashtabula County Joint Vocational School

What is VO-ED? This is a typical question at Harbor High School, for many students are unaware of the vocational education that is available to them. The Ashtabula County Joint Vocational School, located in Jefferson, is host to those students who have predetermined a career. Instead of remaining at Harbor for four years, these students attend the VO-ED school for two years, whereupon they gain the knowledge and skills necessary to attain their chosen profession.

Any junior or senior who has fulfilled the requirements mandated by the state of Ohio may enroll in the VO-ED school. Not only does the VO-ED provide training for careers, but it also offers courses like English, American history, and government to ensure that every student present may fulfill all state requirements.

The VO-ED represents an array of careers including: auto-mechanics, business, carpentry, cosmetology, food service, and nursing. A great number of students who choose to attend VO-ED are immediately placed in jobs upon graduation. Some further their skills by enrolling in a junior college. Whatever choice they make, VO-ED students are thoroughly prepared. Attending the Ashtabula County Joint Vocational School has numerous benefits. Among the largest is the "hands-on" training that all students receive in their perspective field. For example, students enrolled in carpentry would not only learn the techniques and skills through lectures, but also prove their understanding through actual construction of a given object. Another advantage that VO-ED students possess is the knowledge of basic machinery prior to arriving at the work site. Students actually train on equipment they will one day encounter in the career itself. Finally, VO-ED students are introduced to the professionalism of their career. The teachers strive to express the self-confident attitude that each student should possess.

Although ACJVS is a separate entity from Harbor High, those Harbor students who attend VO-ED remain active in the home-school activities presented throughout the school year. Many VO-ED students return to Harbor on Friday afternoons for pep-assemblies. Mr. James Stalker visits the VO-ED regularly throughout the year to keep the Harbor VO-ED students updated on home-school programs and activities such as prom, Grad Night, and graduation.

Students interested in the vocational education offered by the VO-ED should meet with either Mr. Stalker or Mr. Nappi in the guidance office in the middle of their sophomore year. Future students should be dedicated to hard work and will be rewarded with success.

The 1925 bascule lift bridge replaced the 1889 swing bridge which was preceded by the 1844 pontoon bridge. In the 1980's there was a great debate whether to repair the lift bridge or replace it with a newer type bridge. To preserve the historic harbor district, the bridge, built at a cost of $186,000, was moved downriver by barge for refurbishing in 1986 at a cost of $3.2 million.

COMMUNITY OF Class

The Mariner Yearbook staff would like to thank all of the businesses in the community who have made it possible for this book to be published. Without their contributions the cost of the book would be increased tremendously. We would especially like to thank Topky and Cook's Hardware for their eighty-two years of support. These outstanding contributions have helped produce the Mariner for A CENTURY OF CLASS.

The Ashtabula Harbor Coast Guard station, built in 1936, has been a focal point, and one of the most photographed structures, of the harbor.

*In Loving Memory of Angela Victoria Fuller
November 21, 1976-
November 13, 1993*

It rained today, the day after Angela died. It should have snowed in memory of her.

No, not because the pristine, white flakes would have covered the stark ugliness of late autumn after the glory of leaves has faded; it should have snowed to celebrate her indefatigable spirit, her joy in single-handedly organizing the high school ski club and a very special trip to ski in Vermont.

Angela's reach always exceeded her grasp; after all, "What's a heaven for?" Whether it was leading a group of noisy Model UN students across a busy New York street with a happy shout of "Come on!" as the "walk" signal would light, or whether it was running on the high school track team, Angela was a leader, one who reached for the best and inspired others to do the same. And whatever it was, she made it fun.

She was a whirlwind in the school office, working side by side with Stacy Box. If she thought the mail should be sorted faster, you would hear her jokingly say, "Hey Stace, we getting 'Boxed out' here, or what?"

I saw a sympathy card once that said, "Some people come into our lives and quickly go, others leave footprints on our hearts, and we are never the same."

Thank you, Angela. You gave me joy and laughter; you inspired me with your enthusiasm and zest for life; you will live in my heart forever.

-Mrs. Eleanor Andrews

Smile

I say
Smile I say, be glad you live,
Be glad you have so much to give,
Be glad you're young, be glad you're well,
Be glad you still have stories to tell.
Smile I say and look around,
There are still many treasures to be found,
Look for happiness, look for gold,
Look for someone to have and hold.
Smile I say, and raise your head,
Do not dwell upon the dead,
Do not sob, do not cry,
Everyone living has to die.

"Angela"

Almost four months have passed,
since that horrible day.
But, for some reason,
God took Angela away.

She was sixteen years young,
why would He, take her?
We asked each other why?
But the answers were blurred.

The memories of her,
I still hold dear.
From sleepovers at Alex's,
to our volleyball years.

While Angela was here,
she accomplished a lot.
And although Angela's gone, she'll never be forgot.

Now Angela's in,
a better place.
But I still miss,
her smiling face.

We all have grown,
since Angela's been gone.
We've learned to value life,
to forgive, and move on.

Forever we'll wonder,
why He took someone nice and smart.
But Angela did her job,
as she did her part.

I don't think we'll ever,
understand why.
We'll shed less tears,
as time goes by.

Not a day passes,
that Angela's not thought of.
She's always on my shoulder,

-Tara Poros

Angela,
If love alone could have Saved you,
You never would have died
In life we loved you dearly
In death we love you still.
In our hearts you hold a place
No one could ever fill.
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you didn't go alone,
For a part of us went with you
The day God took you home.

Loved and missed by the students at Harbor High.

(right) Before it was torn down in 1965, City Hall, as seen in this 1907 postcard, used to be housed in this beautiful building. Now Carlisle's parking lot lies here.

(top) This was just one of the many displays that were set up at the open house. This display shows you the more important things that happened at or to Harbor during the 1920 era.

(bottom) The 1971 prom was held in the gym like all past proms were, and the decorations for their "Through the Looking Glass" theme were hand-made by the students. The students worked on the prom plans and decorations a full year in advance.

(opposite page) As can be seen by this photograph, the centennial celebration was well attended. Many people came to reminisce and to talk to their former classmates.

(top) Ellen Hyvarinen Koski, Jim Dunick, Isabel Gillen Dunick, Russell Melin, Edith Johnson Melin, John Kinnunen, Tellervo Lakeri, and Marvin Clark enjoy their 25 year class reunion. They all graduated in 1933.

(middle) Christie Frey and Stephanie Lautanen register those visiting Harbor's open house and sell the centennial books prepared by Mrs. Eleanor Andrews.

(above) Martha Kuivinen Hurtok and John Riddell, who both graduated from Harbor in 1921, accompany each other as they look at the displays.

Leaving for home after a long day spent at Harbor High School, Howard Jackson and Shawn Lines remember back the happenings of their day.

The End of a Century

As the year came to a close, the Class of 1994 joined those that were honored and remembered this year as they themselves became graduates of Harbor High School. As they head for college, work, the military or whatever their futures may hold, they will always carry with them the memories of Harbor that have been forming since they first walked through the doors and attended their first class. They also leave behind the three classes under them which will continue on to make next year as memorable as this one. Even though Harbor will continue on for years to come, when looking back through these pages one sees that this truly completes A Century of Class.

Brooke Lane

Giving a view most students never see, the typically busy main hallway remains bare as summer commences. This hall will not be seen with too many faces in it until the school year begins again next year.

Receiving flowers at the girls' basketball Senior Night, Stacy Theis, Shannon Gramley, and Stacy Rohm leave behind their days playing for Harbor as they are honored for their achievements throughout the past four years.

COLOPHON

Mr. Mark Pottieger

How we spent our summer.

The 1994 Mariner, "A CENTURY OF CLASS", was printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Shawnee Mission, Kansas. Press run was 285 for volume 82. Mr. Mark Pottieger served as company representative. Mrs. Alice Fritts advised the publication, and Brooke Lane served as editor-in-chief.

The theme was created at a yearbook camp session at Oberlin College in July. The cover was designed by Doug McWilliams. The text paper is 80 pound Bordeaux.

The body type is Helvetica Medium. The caption types are: Helvetica Italic and division pages, Cloister. The headline types are: theme, Cloister Bold; Student Life, Optima Black; Clubs and Activities, Lydian Bold Italic; People, Tiffany Heavy; Academics, Newbury. The Sports headlines were done by Mark Pottieger. The Student Life and Academics headlines were created using the Tpestyler Program. The folio and photo credit type is Helvetica, and the pulled quotes are Helvetica Italic.

Yearbooks were sold for $30 before January 1994, and for $35 during 1994. The publication was financed by $4305 in advertising, and candy sales earned $2443.

The Mariner staff would like to thank the following: Mrs. Eleanor Andrews for all of her helpful information, assistance, and words of encouragement; Miss Julie Sakol for her conversation and much needed interludes during the long summer hours; Mr. Marvin Clark for allowing us to use his pictures from the 30's; Mrs. Myrtle Wetherbee, Mr. Charlie Jones, Mrs. Linda Frahm, and the rest of the custodial staff for unlocking the door and putting up with our late and summer hours; Mrs. Alice Fritts for advising the publication once again even though (this time) she knew what she was facing; Mrs. Nancy McCluskey for totalling our daily profits from candy sales and for all her help; Mrs. Marianne Hornbeck for the use of the computer lab; Miss Krista Blake for her artwork on the title page; PHOTO SPECIALTIES for the team pictures; BARBIAN STUDIO for the boys' basketball pictures; GREGG LEARY PHOTOGRAPHY for the Scholastic Bowl pictures; all those who aided in the production of this year's Mariner, your assistance is very much appreciated.
